

to save Medicare, and has engaged in a Medicare campaign designed to frighten and deceive senior citizens about the Republican plan.

Instead of coming forth with a bill to end welfare as we know it, as the President promised when he ran for President, the President remains silent throughout the welfare debate. Instead of delivering on a middle-class tax cut, as he also promised when he ran for President, and it is interesting that Candidate Clinton said one thing and President Clinton did another thing although, but instead of delivering on a middle-class tax cut as he promised during his Presidential campaign, the President pushed through the biggest tax increase in history, a tax increase that the President has recently admitted was a mistake. In fact, he said down in Houston at a fund raiser:

Probably there are people in this room still mad at me for that budget because you think I raised your taxes too much, and it might surprise you to know that I think I raised them too much, too.

That is what the President said. But, characteristically, the President blamed someone else for his own mistake, in this case the Republican Party in the Congress, which voted unanimously against the Clinton Democratic tax increase.

So, Mr. Speaker, at a time when Americans are embracing the value of personal responsibility, what does the President do but blame everyone else for his own lack of leadership?

Well, Mr. Speaker, Republicans in this Congress are different. We are keeping our promises, and we are stepping up to the Nation's challenges. No more excuses, no more Washington gimmicks, no more blame game. Republicans are providing the leadership that President Clinton promised but which, unfortunately, he lacks, the leadership that America needs.

It took less than a year for us Republicans to accomplish what President Clinton, in the most powerful office in the world, the most powerful political office, could not deliver in 3 years. In fact, just last week, we passed historic landmark legislation which balances the Federal budget for the first time in 26 years. We actually balanced the budget by the year 2002 by limiting the increase, not the decrease, the increase in Federal spending to approximately 3 percent per year between now and 2002.

Second, we preserve and we protect and strengthen Medicare while allowing Medicare spending to increase for every senior every year. The increase in California, where I come from, is from $5,000 per Medicare beneficiary today to $8,000 per Medicare beneficiary in the year 2002. In fact, over that 7-year period, we plan to spend an aggregate of $50,000 per Medicare beneficiary in California.

Third, genuine welfare reform that requires work, that emphasizes the family, and gives people hope for the future.

Last and very importantly, tax cuts for families and for economic growth and job creation in the private sector which gives us most of our new, good-paying jobs.

Mr. Speaker, it is time for the President to follow the Republicans' lead, do the right thing for America's future and support a budget, our budget, that truly reflects America's values.

FURTHER MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A further message from the Senate by Mr. Lundregan, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate had passed without amendment a bill of the House of the following title:

H.R. 2492. An act making appropriations for the Legislative Branch for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1996, and for other purposes.

The message also announced that the Senate had passed a bill of the following title, in which the concurrence of the House is requested:

S. 1382. An act to extend the Middle East Peace Facilitation Act.

THE HORRIBLE TRUTH ABOUT TAXES IN LIGHT OF BUDGET AND APPROPRIATION PROCESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of May 12, 1995, the gentleman from New York [Mr. OWENS] is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, the budget and appropriation process is behind schedule. I think that it has seldom been as far behind as it is now. But, as we all know, it is moving, and the critical high point is about to arrive. The negotiations between the Democratic President and the Republican-controlled Congress will mark the high point of this whole process.

Already there have been preliminary negotiations, I understand, at the White House; and we are beginning to enter that process. I think it is important at this point to take stock of where we are and to have the American people understand their vital role in this process.

I would like to, first, congratulate the American people, because the polls show that American common sense is again on target. American common sense, despite all the confusion, the double talk, the contradictions, the obfuscation, the diversions, despite it all, the American people understand basically what is going on; and their common sense has prevailed, and we have to listen to it.

According to the Wall Street Journal, 61 percent of the people want the President to veto the Republican budget. Yes, the Republican budget produced by this House of Representatives and the Senate, both controlled by Republican majorities, 61 percent of the American people, according to the Wall Street Journal, want the President to veto that budget. Thirty-two percent said it is OK.

Seventy-three percent of the American people prefer smaller Medicare and education cuts, and they prefer a 10-year budget, according to the Wall Street Journal. Seventy-three percent prefer a 10-year budget and smaller cuts. Only 22 percent would go with a 7-year budget and the deep cuts that are proposed by the Republican majority.

Common sense is on target. Congratulations, American people, congratulations to democracy.

When the decisionmakers and the people who are locked into the closets of Washington lose their way and cannot understand the obvious, the American people can bring them back to reality.

Yes, the American people are on target right now, but I fear, as we move closer and closer to the climactic point of this whole process of budget and appropriations that there is going to be more attempt to confuse the American people. There will be more obfuscation and more diversions thrown at the American people.

So we have to be careful. Contradictions will be rampant. There will be a refusal to acknowledge certain things, like they will not acknowledge the horrible truth about taxes in America.

I believe we should have a tax cut. I believe American individuals and families, certainly those making $50,000 or less, must have a tax cut. It is only fair, because they have been swindled, they have been swindled since 1943 by having the great shift in the proportion of the revenue burden borne by individuals and families versus corporations.

That is my chart that always brings because there is no truth more fundamental, no truth more important than the truth of this chart, which shows how the tax burden shifted from American corporations to American individuals and families.

Herein lies the solution to the problem of the deficit, herein, lies the solution to the problem of a balanced budget, and herein lies the solution to the problem of giving some relief to the American people who have borne such high taxes for so many years.

There might have been a justification during the era when we were fighting the cold war. So the American people made sacrifices. They bore the high taxes. The cold war is over now. There is no reason to continue, and there certainly is no reason why you had the shift which is so dramatic from the corporate world bearing the great portion of the tax burden to a situation now where the corporate world bears a very tiny portion of it and individuals and families are forced to bear most of it.

I will come back to that, but that is one of those acknowledgments, one of the pieces of truth that both the White House and the Republican-controlled Congress refuse to acknowledge. We are going to have negotiations at the White House, and I certainly support my Democratic President. I am glad that you have the President there instead of a Republican President. We are
